The mission of the Georgia Council on Developmental Disabilities (GCDD) is to bring about social and policy changes that promote opportunities for persons with developmental disabilities and their families to live, learn, work, play and worship in Georgia communities. In 2016, we worked with our partners, Council members, advocates and community to continue achieving inclusive and integrated communities in Georgia. Here are some highlights of the year, and if you want to learn more, click on the links provided in each section for a more detailed look on how GCDD’s work impacts the lives of people with developmental disabilities:

Created New Five Year Strategic Plan Goals

1. Education
2. Employment
3. Formal/Informal Supports
4. Real Communities
5. Self-Advocacy

The New Five Year Strategic Plan for 2017-2021 was completed and approved by the Administration on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (AIDD). The goals laid the framework for the Council’s work from 2017-2021 that will address services and supports across the State for people with developmental disabilities. Click here to read more about the final plan.

Georgia’s First Take Your Legislator to Work Day (TYLTWD) kicked off in October 2015 to raise awareness about the benefits of hiring individuals with disabilities. The initiative was an exercise in advocacy to bring together legislators with people with developmental disabilities and employers who are supporting this effort in their districts. Read their stories here.

40 Legislative Visits Took Place for the first TYLTWD.

18 Years of Disability Days at the Capitol remembered.

GCDD celebrates their final Disability Day in Atlanta and moves the focus to Advocacy Days to build stronger advocates. The 2016 Disability Day video provides an overview of this 18 year legacy. GCDD cannot be successful in its legislative advocacy without the voices of people with disabilities, their families and other allies.
GCDD hosted Advocacy Days at the Capitol during the 2016 legislative session to let people with disabilities, their families and other stakeholders meet legislators and discuss what is important to them. Read what some of these advocates thought about their first-hand experience telling their stories to legislators and why this is such an important means of advocacy for GCDD.
